HAUPTMANN VERDICT UPHELD

Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

HUEY P. LONG is dead, but over in Georgia the other great critic of the national administration carries on—Eugene Talmadge. Governor Talmadge started something last week when he charged that Roosevelt is subsidizing the newspapers, naming 23 Georgia editors and publishers who "have been given jobs by the federal government." Talmadge's charge led the Chattanooga (Tenn.) Times to ask leading American editors and owners whether they thought an active newspaper man should hold political office. The overwhelming verdict was "No."

Removal of Sales Tax Exemptions Is Educators' Plea

Would Extend 2 Per Cent Levy Against Staple Foods Now Exempt

A SIX-MONTH TERM Minimum Guarantee for All Schools in Arkansas Is Asked

LITTLE ROCK.—The sales tax will be extended to all articles now exempt (staple foods and medicines) and the allotment of 65 per cent of sales tax revenue to public schools will be recommendations of the ways and means committee of the Arkansas Education association are followed by the legislature.

The committee's report, prepared by a subcommittee which met here Tuesday, will be submitted to the Council of Education, governing body of the Arkansas Education Association, at its annual meeting, November 7, immediately preceding the opening of the three-day convention of the association here.

First on the list of immediate objectives to be recommended by the committee is a six-month school term for every child in the state. Local districts might extend the term on their own initiative.

Financing of the state's share in this program is suggested through retention of the present sales tax distribution, increase in the number of articles to be taxed, and "continuation of a sales tax until such time as other monies are sufficient to provide this program for Arkansas."

Restoration of rural school supervision through use of an 18-100 mill state tax devoted to other state uses by the 1933 General Assembly will be recommended by the committee, which urges "an administration and instructional supervision program for both rural and city schools with particular emphasis on the present need in the field of rural supervision."

Legislation permitting local districts to provide for teacher retirement funds will be recommended also.

Proposals For Long-Time Plan Ultimate objectives outlined by the committee for consideration include four points in a suggested long-time plan for Arkansas schools.

To develop "an adequate as well as stable system of revenues" for operation and housing of schools, the committee will make the following recommendations:

1. Retain all present sources of school revenue until further funds are provided.
2. Reorganize tax assessment procedure.
3. Establish a guaranteed minimum state apportionment of school funds.
4. Retire and refundance school indebtedness to provide more operating revenue.

Suggestion For Reorganization Reorganization of the public school system will be recommended through the following suggested channels:

1. Laws to provide for dissolving or consolidating school districts having fewer than 15 pupils.
2. Return to a system of rural school supervision.
3. Enforcement of the school budget law.
4. Complete audits of all district funds through "the state auditing service for which the schools are assessed."

Jury Asks Stock Law Enforcement

Name Logan Negro on Manslaughter in Highway Death

Grand Jury Returns 16 Indictments—10 Released for Publication

NO COLLINS REPORT

Action Fails in Investigation of Death of Spring Hill Farmer

Rigid enforcement of the Hempstead county stock law which prohibits cattle and other livestock from ranging on public highways—and the enforcement of laws with reference to reckless driving—was denounced in the report of the Hempstead county grand jury late Tuesday.

The report said that more people are being killed on public highways than by guns.

"Driving without lights and other traffic violations on the highway leading to death or injury to the general public should be rigidly enforced, and cattle and other livestock should not be permitted to range on the public highways, as this is a menace to public safety. We recommend that the law enforcement officers of this county use their very best efforts to enforce this law," the report said.

Several months ago Sheriff Jim Bearden publicly warned livestock owners to keep their stock locked up and off the highways. His order followed several automobile accidents on Highway 67, the Broadway of American route. Some of the auto smashups, resulting in serious injury to passengers, were attributed to livestock running loose at night.

At that time farmers heeded his warning, repaired fences and for a while kept up their stock. The plan worked well and automobile wrecks in this area were reduced. There were no arrests at any time.

Lately livestock has been turned loose, stalling the highways at night and looting as a menace for the motoring public.

Manslaughter Count The grand jury returned two indictments against Nathan Logan as the result of two deaths in a highway accident. Logan is a Hope negro.

He was indicted on two counts charging manslaughter for the death of Ervile Nichols and Rose Huntley, negro women. A car driven by Logan and occupied by the two negro women figured in a collision with a truck on Highway 67 west of Hope early this past summer.

About 10 other persons were hurt. The truck was loaded with relief workers who were on route home from Fulton where they had been employed bolstering dikes during the early summer floods on Red river.

Among other recommendations, the jury included one urging County Judge H. M. Stephens to make arrangements to work county prisoners on local roads or to arrange with some other county in the state to work the prisoners.

The jury returned 16 true bills, 10 of which were included three murder charges, all against negroes, involving negro slayings. They are against Robert Turner, Nora Turner and Helen Williams.

Other indictments: Jewell Hall, burglary and robbery; Fred Moore, burglary and grand larceny; Tom Cox, burglary and grand larceny; Eula Rawls, forgery and uttering; Willie Neal, assault with intent to kill; Nathan Logan, 2 indictments for manslaughter; Ernest Allen, selling liquor.

Trials for defendants at liberty on bonds were continued until January. Trials for prisoners now held in the county jail will be heard Monday and Tuesday of next week, officials announced.

No Collins Report The grand jury investigated the death of Roy Collins, Spring Hill farmer and stockman who died about two weeks ago in a local hospital of a fractured skull, but made no public report of the investigation.

Organization of the 16 members of the grand jury for their two-day session was as follows:

Roy Anderson, foreman.
Monroe Samuel and Coy Cummins, clerks.

W. W. Duckett, Hugh Garvey and Charles W. Erwin, courthouse and records committee.

Tom H. Butler, S. L. (Jeff) Murphy and J. W. Russell, jail committee.

Other members of the jury were: W. J. Arnold, John Rogers, R. C. Stuart, Earl Thompson, Fred Smith, Sid Hester and Clayburn McJunkin.

Cake Walk Brings Band Fund to $613

Total of $103 Raised by Main Street Event on Tuesday Night

Men, women and children joined in a Cake Walk in downtown Hope Tuesday night that not only proved popular with contestants but was a big success financially to the auxiliary of the Hope Boys band, the organization which is obtaining money to purchase new uniforms for the band.

The net result of the cake walk was $103.45. Forty-four cakes were given away to lucky persons. Average price of each cake was better than $2. The grand prize, a large basket of dahlias, donated to the auxiliary by Bryant's Floral Home, went to Kinard Young.

Three cases of Coca Cola were given to the auxiliary by Luther Holloman, and sold during the cake walk. Gross proceeds totaled $103.45.

Members of the auxiliary were elated Wednesday over the success of their venture. They expressed thanks to the public and to each person who aided in making the show a success.

Main street from Second to Third was roped off. The cake walk started at 7:30 p. m. to the tune of the Boys band. J. K. Sale acted as master of ceremonies.

Following Tuesday night's success, each member of the band Wednesday "kicked in" with a dollar apiece to swell the benefit fund to a new total of $613.47.

Previously acknowledged $478.72
Cake Walk fund 103.45
Band member's donation 30.00
Claude Mann 1.00
Cash .30

Total $613.47

The auxiliary announced that it would sponsor the Arkansas-Highway Race here October 15 and that another cake walk would be staged to raise additional funds.

Band members donating a dollar each are: Joe Armistead, Roy Lewis, Billy Orton, Jackson Vinyard, Carline Bruner, Frances Bruner, David Davis, Marion Smith, Pershing Floyd, Mary Della White, Gus Bernier, Jr., Thomas Kinser, Jr., Homer Lavender.

Claude Nunn, James Sandlin, Harold Smith, Wallace Van Sickle, Daisy Dorothy Heard, Mary Katherine Bruner, Harry Segner, Jr., Charles Seay, Syvella Burke, Vance Crawford, Joe Wimmerly, Luther Garner, Jr., J. T. Luck, C. Cook, Jr., E. P. Young, Jr., Noland Cargile, Bryant Bundy.

Mae Threatened, But Won't Talk

"Come Up to See Me Sometime—At the Studio," Her Word to G-Men

LON ANGELES, Calif.—(AP)—G-men made a vain effort Tuesday to inquire into the latest real-life drama starring Mae West, nonechalant despite the assertedly harrowing experiences of receiving dire threats from extortionists and helping capture a suspect.

The wise-cracking blonde actress wasn't "in" when Joseph E. P. Dunn, chief of the federal Bureau of Investigation here, called at her glittering apartment at 2 a. m. Tuesday. She left word she'd see him later.

She didn't mean she would call on Dunn. He was advised to come up and see her—at the studio—where she appeared unconcerned.

Neither Dunn nor two other principals in the case were quite so serene. They were George Janios, 38, a studio restaurant worker, taken in custody at a designated "pay-off" place Monday night, and Blayne Matthews, chief investigator of the district attorney's office.

Matthews said the district attorney's office had been working on the case 30 days—since the star received the first threatening note. It read:

"Aid is a horrible deed to be in one's face so beautiful in the height of her career, for the small sum of $1,000."

"We want $1,000 in five, tens, and twenties, unmarked or copied. You can call the police if you wish, but then you will be sure to get ailed with little by for good measure."

"On the set, or fights, or home, 570 Rossmore, or riding or parties or studio. We see you every day. Ailed burns."

Diplomatic Lines Definitely Broken by Italy, Ethiopia

Envoys Ordered Home by Both Sides, Although Italy Protests Reason

BOYCOTT TO BEGIN

Italians See Ethiopia as Fertile Field for Future Immigrants

ROME, Italy.—(AP)—All pretense at diplomatic cordiality between Italy and Ethiopia ended Wednesday.

An Italian spokesman said that Luigi Vinci-Gigliucci, minister to Ethiopia, was authorized by the foreign office to leave Addis Ababa, although the Italian government protested to Geneva against the reasons cited by Emperor Selassie for asking him to depart.

Simultaneously, the Italian spokesman acknowledged that the Ethiopian charged affairs at Rome had been instructed by his government to return home.

Boycott Plans Advance GENEVA, Switzerland (Copyright AP)—The steering committee of the League of Nations assembly decided Wednesday to recommend the creation of a commission on sanctions which could co-ordinate the work of the League council and assembly.

The steering committee made this decision as it met in preparation for the assembly session later in the day, which had on its program the question of action against Italy for its war with Ethiopia.

Specifically, the question before the assembly was whether to approve the report of the council's committee of six which found Italy had violated the League covenant, thereby making sanctions applicable against the Fascist state.

"No More Emigration" WITH THE ITALIAN ARMIES ON THE NORTHERN FRONT—(Copyright AP)—General Ruggero Santini said Wednesday:

"When we have Ethiopia there never will be another Italian who needs to emigrate to America."

The Fascist army has gained control of a region in northern Ethiopia as large as the states of Rhode Island and Delaware combined.

An Italian front communication said it was "a quiet day" Wednesday.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia.—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie, heartened by the prospect of League of Nations sanctions against Italy, urged all Ethiopians to leave the Italian colony of Eritrea Tuesday night and told his envoys to Rome to ask for his passports.

The emperor was represented as believing major sanctions will break down Italy's defiance while the armies of Il Duce will be unable to penetrate the rock-ribbed mountain citadels of Ethiopia.

Selassie proclaimed that since all Italians were leaving his nation, remaining Europeans must be considered "enemies and treated accordingly."

The emperor was asked if he would accept French mediation to settle his dispute with Italy. His answer was "no."

He was encouraged, officials said, by the powerful naval and military forces Great Britain has concentrated in the Mediterranean, about the Suez canal and as far south as Aden, Arabia.

The belief that Great Britain, despite her arms embargo, is aiding Ethiopia by secret arms shipments through the Sudan and British Somaliland persisted here.

Lights were ordered extinguished nightly in Addis Ababa as the emperor took precautions against air raids. Inhabitants were ordered to draw their curtains, stay off the streets, and to refrain from using flashlights. Traffic was ordered suspended after dark.

League Plans Boycott GENEVA, Switzerland.—(AP)—A League "general staff" for enacting Italy with economic pressure informally was in action Tuesday night on the eve of an Assembly meeting to discuss sanctions. Technical experts are beginning to arrive, and held a conference on problems involved in sanctions.

The "general staff" will include all members of the Council except Italy. This is a total of 13 nations, Great Britain and France among them.

Basic for application of sanctions, League officials said, probably will be found in the report of experts. The committee reported munitions and products required for the manufacture of munitions could be shut off from the offending country.

Nevada County to Hold Liquor Vote

Administrator Doran Urges Curtailment of Liquor Advertising

PRESCOTT, Ark.—(AP)—Arkansas' second county-wide referendum on the sale of liquor will be held in Nevada county December 10.

County Judge E. H. Weaver ordered the election Monday on petition by 900 qualified electors, more than half the registered voters of the county. There were no protests.

Texas Package Bill AUSTIN, Texas.—(AP)—The house passed and sent the Senate a bill to provide for sale of liquor in unbroken packages only by dealers under state license.

The vote was 118 to 23 and came after a final attempt of wet leaders to obtain sale by the drink under local option failed, 70 to 60.

The bill was written largely by drys aided by a few wets opposed to sale by the drink.

Would Curb Advertising WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Liquor distillers were urged Tuesday to "refrain from advertising on Sunday" in a letter from James M. Doran, administrator of Distilled Spirits, Inc.

Writing that he sensed "a rising opinion against what I believe is becoming offensive to the public, that it is excessive advertising of liquor, both in the daily press and the periodicals," Doran said he planned to bring the matter up for discussion at the next executive meeting of the institute.

Principal E. R. Brown Announces Beginning of New Term Oct. 14

The fall term of school at Guernsey will open next Monday, October 14, it was announced Wednesday by E. R. Brown, principal.

The faculty: E. R. Brown, principal and mathematics; Hugh Bristow, athletic coach and science instructor; Mrs. E. R. Brown, English teacher and coach of the girl basketball team; Mrs. Simms, French and history teacher.

Miss Allene Wylie, fifth and sixth grades; Miss Nellie Hays, third and fourth grades; Mrs. Edgar Tyler, second grade; Mrs. Charles Wylie, first grade.

Bond Purchase Plan Is Continued

Refunding Board Reverses Itself—Will Spend Million as Planned

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The State Refunding Board Wednesday rescinded its order of Tuesday and voted to spend all of the approximately one million dollars now available for the purchase of state bonds at a discount before maturity.

The board took no action on Tuesday's resolution that it would buy no more bonds unless they were offered at less than 35 cents on the dollar.

Wednesday's action followed protests from representatives of holders of Arkansas road bonds against an order reserving $400,000 of available bond purchase funds due to charges of speculation, which were filed Tuesday by state officials.

Traxler Wanted on Murder Count

Oklahoma Sheriff Coming for Fugitive Wounded in Nashville Fight

NASHVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—Sheriff C. A. Diddy of Howard county said Tuesday night that he expects the sheriff from Pauls Valley, Okla., to come here Wednesday for a man listed as Roy (Pete) Traxler, wanted in Pauls Valley on a murder charge.

Sheriff Diddy said following conversation by telephone with Oklahoma authorities Tuesday there was no doubt that the man held here is the former Oklahoma three-term convict accused of slaying George Loper, Pauls Valley peace officer, several weeks ago.

Diddy said Traxler, wounded slightly in the hip, had not indicated whether he would fight extradition and had refused to discuss the Pauls Valley charges.

The Pauls Valley sheriff notified Diddy he was going to Oklahoma City Tuesday to get extradition papers and would come to Nashville as quickly as he could get them approved at Little Rock, probably Wednesday.

Fingerprints of Traxler were given State Ranger J. H. Sewell Tuesday by Sheriff Diddy to be shown to Little Rock for comparison with prints of the man wanted in Oklahoma. State Rangers at Little Rock reported late Tuesday the prints had not been received here.

Traxler was captured near here Monday in a gun fight with Ranger Sewell. Sheriff Diddy and a state revenue officer.

Highest Court in Jersey Unanimous on Death Appeal

Decision of Court of Errors Announced 50 Minutes After Convening

3 COURSES REMAIN

Bruno May Seek Commutation, Trial on New Evidence, or U. S. Appeal

TRENTON, N. J.—(AP)—The highest court in New Jersey—the Court of Errors and Appeals—Wednesday upheld the death sentence conviction of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the kidnapping-murder of young Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr.

The opinion was unanimous. The decision was announced 50 minutes after the court convened.

Denial of a new trial leaves Hauptmann with three courses open: 1. He may appeal to the Court of Pardons, of which Governor Hoffman and six judges of the Court of Errors and Appeals are members. They can only commute his sentence to life imprisonment. Appeals to this court are usually denied unless there are extenuating circumstances.

2. Hauptmann also may appeal for a new trial, on the basis of new evidence.

3. And he may appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. His attorneys have said that they will carry the case to this last and highest tribunal.

Wife Is Stunned NEW YORK.—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Hauptmann, wife of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, was stunned Wednesday when she learned that the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals had upheld the death sentence of her husband.

She said: "All we can do is to carry on."

Dick Powell Pays Home Town Visit

Nearly Mobbed at Little Rock School—Flies Back to Hollywood

LITTLE ROCK.—Dick Powell, motion picture star, who arrived Sunday night to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Powell, 1519 Schiller avenue, left Tuesday night on the west-bound American Airlines Condor for Hollywood.

Dick was mobbed by student autograph seekers when he visited some of his former teachers at senior high school Tuesday. Throughout his conversation with J. A. Larson, principal, in the main office, slips of paper poured through a window in a steady stream from outside in the lobby. Dick was good natured about it and seemed to enjoy signing his name on the scraps of paper.

Woman Held for Poison Murders

Acquitted 10 Years Ago, Is Involved in New Triangle Mystery

MINEOLA, N. Y.—(AP)—A housewife who smiled with a child's unconcern confessed Tuesday, officials said, that she helped the alleged seducer of her schoolgirl daughter to poison his 220-pound wife.

She also was represented as confessing that she did away with her own brother by the same poison—a crime for which she was tried and acquitted a decade ago and so can not be tried again.

An illicit relationship Everett A. Applegate, 38, past commander of his American Legion post, allegedly carried on with Ruth Creighton, 15, apparently inspired the Borgia conspiracy at Baldwin, L. I.

In a frame house in that suburb lived Mr. and Mrs. Applegate and their daughter Agnes, 13, and Mr. and Mrs. John Creighton with their two children, Ruth and John, 12. And there, last September 26, an egg nog was mixed—But before that, according to the confession District Attorney Martin W. Littleton announced Mrs. Creighton had signed. Mrs. Applegate found out about her husband and Ruth Creighton. Mrs. Creighton also found out about it.

And Applegate found out, the confession recounted, that Mrs. Creighton really had poisoned her brother, Charles R. Avery, when they lived in Newark, N. J. She said she did it because he was "a cripple and a burden to the family."

After being acquitted of his slaying, Mrs. Creighton, who is 36, was tried for the poison death of her mother-in-law and again was acquitted. Her confession denied this poisoning.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Give Quick, Efficient Aid for Apoplexy.

One emergency for which everybody should be prepared is the occurrence of brain hemorrhage, or apoplexy, one of the most frequent causes of death. Coming suddenly, in the midst of excitement, or from some other cause that raises the blood pressure, apoplexy results in paralysis and loss of consciousness.

The important thing to do in a case like this is to put the stricken person to bed, let him lie flat on his side while he is unconscious, to prevent the tongue from falling back and choking him and maintain absolute quiet. Everything must be done to conserve the strength of the heart and maintain flow of blood to the brain.

Of course, a doctor should be called immediately. He will see that the blood pressure doesn't fall so low that death occurs.

For this purpose, food in liquid form will have to be administered, through the nose if the person cannot swallow, and proper measures must be taken to get rid of waste material.

On recovery, most stricken persons will find certain parts of their bodies paralyzed. This may be due to actual destruction of certain nerves, or to inflammation and pressure. Inflammation, however, will tend to lessen as time goes on.

As soon as a nerve is paralyzed, the muscles tend to assume a fixed position—the arms may be drawn up, or the legs bent.

This can be counteracted by not permitting the affected arms or legs to be in one position for long periods. Springs may have to be used to hold the limbs properly.

Furthermore, the afflicted person must play a part in his recovery by centering his efforts on the motion of the stricken parts.

He may be tempted to lean toward the motions that are easiest, but he should try those movements which will loosen up the stricken muscles, even though this will be hard and painful work.

The difficulty lies not so much in the arms or legs, as it does in the brain and in the nerves that control the arms and legs. Sometimes measures will help maintain the muscles and other tissues in proper condition, so that they will be easily movable when the nerve stimuli begin coming through from the brain.

At any rate, practice of the afflicted muscles will lead to recovery of the ability to use arms or legs. Otherwise, permanent paralysis will result.

Good nursing is essential in all cases of brain hemorrhage. If a professional nurse cannot be obtained, members of the family should devote their time and study to be of real service under direction of the doctor.

A BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTION

Tells of 13 Months in the Death House.

David Lamson was found guilty of the murder of his wife, Allene, some two years ago and was sentenced to hang. After spending 13 months in the death house at San Quentin prison, he was released when the California Supreme Court reversed the verdict—remarkably, as it did so, that the "proof" of his guilt amounted to little more than a general suspicion.

Now he has written the account of his stay in the death house. It is entitled, "We Who Are About to Die," and it is a truly excellent book.

Mr. Lamson does not go in for sentimentality, he does not try to present himself as a much-changed young man, and he does not try to paint an arty, "literary" word picture.

He simply tells what prison looks like to the man who is inside; tells it without frills and without laboring his points, and with a common sense that makes the book very valuable.

For the most part, he devotes his attention to the grim tension of life in the death house, and to the almost equally grim tension of prison life generally. He says that San Quentin has intelligent management, that the guards are as decent and humane as guards can be—but that the guards over-

The GOLDEN FEATHER

by Robert Bruce © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JEAN DUNN, pretty, 21, is secretary to DONALD MONTAGUE, lawyer. BOBBY WALLACE, automobile salesman, has frequently asked her to marry him, but Jean delays her answer.

At the Golden Feather night club she meets a new HAWKING who says he is in love on business.

ARMY GLENN, federal agent, wants Jean and Bobby again, spending much time in places like the Golden Feather. Later, trying to find KIMMY LEWIS, bank robber, he discovers the bank with his friend, MIKE (GANN, of the local outfit).

Sandy telephones Jean on a day when she has the afternoon off from work and they go for a hotback ride. He kisses her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VII

WHEN she got home that evening Jean discovered that her conscience was rather disturbed about that kiss.

"What sort of girl do you call yourself, anyway?" asked Conscience, indignantly. "The very first time you've been out with a man, too! And you've always prided yourself on the fact that you didn't like to be mauled and petted!"

"But that wasn't mauling and petting," answered Jean. "It was—it was just one little kiss. And anyhow, it happened before I knew it was coming."

"Oh, yeah?" said Conscience. "I've heard that before."

"Well, it did," insisted Jean. "And what's the harm? It didn't mean anything. And he—he didn't even try to do it again, or—"

"Well, I must say, that's a very weak sort of defense," Conscience replied. "It wasn't your fault he didn't try to do it again."

"It was so! I drew away and I told him—"

"Oh, you told him! Since when did that mean anything? And besides, what would Bobby say?"

"Well, Bobby just isn't going to know. And it isn't going to happen again, so what's the use of making all this fuss over it?"

That wasn't the most satisfactory reply imaginable, perhaps, but it would have to do. And the feeling of guilt that stayed in the back of Jean's mind made her especially nice to Bobby when he called for her, after dinner, to take her to a movie; and when he told her good night, later, she let him kiss her three times to make up for it, so that that young man went home both pleased and puzzled.

Sandy called her up Sunday morning and suggested another ride. She put him off on the ground that she had another engagement. He called her up Sunday evening, apparently for no reason except that he wanted to tell her that she was tops. He called her at the office Monday morning and asked if she could have lunch with him; and when she said that she could not be begged her to dine with him the evening.

"Sandy, I can't," she said. "I'm all tied up this week."

"Yeah?" said Sandy cheerfully. "Baby, you aren't fooling me a-tall. You better get yourself untied pretty quick, or I'll come up there and pull you out by that pretty yellow hair of yours. I'm not foolin', sister. You're the nicest thing I've seen in all my travels, and I'm going to see plenty more of you, plenty!"

WHEN she got home that night, Jean found a huge box of roses waiting for her. And the next noon, when she went out for lunch, she stepped from the elevator into the lobby of the office building and found Sandy lounging there, waiting for her.

He grinned broadly, stepped up confidently, tucked her arm into his, and said, "Now where's a good place to eat, anyhow? I bet you're hungry."

Helplessly, laughing, she suffered, herself to be led along. He took her to a restaurant where she never lunched—it was too expensive for the budget of a girl who was earning her own living—and got a table in a sheltered corner, behind a clump of palms.

When they had ordered he looked at her with mock sternness.

"Now," he said, "suppose you tell me why you're ducking me so hard!"

"I'm not ducking you," she protested.

"Yes, you are. What's the big idea? Don't I wear the right kind of necktie, or have I got spots on my vest, or do I need a haircut or something? Why can't I ever have another date with you?"

"I didn't say you never could. My goodness, you're rushing things, aren't you?"

"Why not? I don't believe in being backward, when the prettiest girl in the whole state is floating around loose right under my nose."

"Well, but—" she hesitated. "You see, Sandy, I'm not really floating around loose. I'm—I'm really engaged. And she was furious with herself when she found herself adding the words, "practically, anyhow."

Sandy cocked a humorous eye at her.

"Practically engaged, eh? Good Lord, baby, go ahead and be engaged. I'm not going to eat you up. I just want to pal around with you. No harm in that, is there?"

"No-o-o." The waiter set food before them, and she became very busy with her club sandwich. "But—oh, you know how it is." "Boy friend might get sore?" Sandy grinned.

"Why, he's a nice kid," said Sandy. "When you going to get married?"

"Well, not right away," said Jean helplessly. "I mean, you see he's just getting started, and—"

"What's he do?"

"He's an auto salesman."

"Who's he with?"

"He's with the—oh Sandy, what's the use of questioning me like this! I've gone with him ever since I was in high school. I just don't think I—I ought to have dates, that's all."

"Aw, these aren't regular dates I'm asking for. I just want to see you sometimes. No harm in that."

But Jean remained adamant, and when the lunch was finished and Sandy had escorted her back to her office and gone away, she told her conscience savagely. "Now—I do hope you're satisfied!"

THAT night she went out to dinner with Bobby. But whereas Conscience, on their last date, had caused her to be especially nice to him, it all seemed to work with reverse English this time, and she found herself being irritable and disagreeable.

As they were finishing their dessert, Bobby looked at her anxiously.

"What's the matter tonight, honey?" he asked. "Aren't you feeling well?"

"I'm all right," she said. "Just—just a little tired, or something, I guess."

He looked at her fondly.

"You're working too hard," he announced. "Honey, when you going to quit that old office and let me take care of you? That's what you need."

"Please, Bobby," she said. "Let's not argue about it tonight. Let's—let's go dance somewhere, or something, and not quarrel."

"Good idea," said Bobby. "Look—how about going back to the Golden Feather again and seeing life in the raw?"

She hesitated; and then told herself, "Oh, for pity sakes, what's the matter with you? You probably won't bump into Sandy there, and if you do, what of it?"

Aloud she said, "All right—let's." So they went out, got a taxi, and went to the night club.

THE hour was early, and there was only a handful of people scattered about in the club. They followed the headwaiter to a table along the wall, and as they reached it Bobby glanced idly at the couple at the next table. His face lit up with recognition, and Jean heard him say, "Why—hello there."

She looked. There sat Sandy, with a stinking-looking girl in an expensive purple frock. Jean was astonished to discover that her first emotion, on seeing them, was a small, instinctive stab of jealousy. Sandy got up and beckoned to them.

"Look who's here," he said gaily. "Come on and sit with us. Here—" He motioned to the waiter to bring chairs. "This is Eve Lewis," he went on, addressing Jean and Bobby. The girl looked up and smiled in friendly fashion. "Eve, these are—" he suddenly stopped and grinned.

"Doggone if I haven't forgotten your names," he said.

Jean instantly thought, "He remembers mine but he's forgotten Bobby's, and he doesn't want Bobby to know." Bobby was completing the introduction, as this thought was going through her head, and a moment later all four of them were seated together.

The orchestra began to play. "Will you dance, Miss Lewis?" asked Bobby. She got up. "Okay," she said. "And by the way, it's Mrs. Lewis." They glided off on the dance floor. Sandy turned to Jean with a quizzical grin.

"Dance?" he asked. She shook her head.

"Let's just sit here, if you don't mind . . . and since when have you forgotten my name?"

His grin became broader.

He looked at her fondly.

"You're working too hard," he announced. "Honey, when you going to quit that old office and let me take care of you? That's what you need."

"Please, Bobby," she said. "Let's not argue about it tonight. Let's—let's go dance somewhere, or something, and not quarrel."

"Good idea," said Bobby. "Look—how about going back to the Golden Feather again and seeing life in the raw?"

She hesitated; and then told herself, "Oh, for pity sakes, what's the matter with you? You probably won't bump into Sandy there, and if you do, what of it?"

Aloud she said, "All right—let's." So they went out, got a taxi, and went to the night club.

THE hour was early, and there was only a handful of people

"That was all right, wasn't it?" he asked. She smiled and nodded. "Your girl friend is nice," she said presently.

"Oh, she's not my girl friend," he said. "I'm holding that job open for you. She's the wife of a pal of mine, she's going to meet him here pretty quick."

He looked toward the door.

"There he is now."

A slight, black-haired man was coming toward them. He wore a carefully tailored dinner coat, and he seemed to be something of a dandy. He reached the table and Sandy introduced him as Mr. Lewis. He drew a fifth chair to the table. As he did so, Jean noticed idly that he lacked an index finger on the left hand.

CARDUI

Eased Pain

Cardui is a medicine for such conditions as described below by a lady who used to take it.

"I took Cardui for pain and cramping, also for a run-down condition, and I found it eased the pain and built up my nervous system and helped the weakness," writes Mrs. E. D. Carroll, of Hillsboro, Texas. "I would have nervous spells that would unfit me for my work. I took Cardui and I would get all right. I was never without it when needed."

Functional pains and nervousness at monthly periods often go away when better nourishment has been provided. Cardui relieves certain pains, increases the appetite and improves digestion. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Does Your Food Make You Strong or Weak?

Do you realize that what you eat today is your flesh and blood tomorrow? Also, your strength or weakness? So if you have no appetite or if your food sours and turns to gas, instead of digesting normally, you are sure to grow weaker and weaker each day instead of stronger and more vigorous.

To escape the weakness and sickness that are sure to result from undernourishment, you must regain a hearty appetite and overcome the symptoms of indigestion. For this purpose we strongly recommend B-Tonic to restore your appetite and stimulate your digestion, so you can obtain all possible nourishment from your food and regain health and strength.

SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK. We are authorized to refund the price of the first bottle to any of our customers who are not delighted with B-Tonic—you will be the sole judge.

Leaf tobacco being sold to highest bidder

United States Treasury Building

From 1900 up to 1934 the leaf tobacco used for cigarettes increased from 13,084,037 lbs. to 326,093,357 lbs.; an increase of 2392%

It takes mild ripe tobacco to make a good cigarette.

During the year ending June 30, 1900, the Government collected from cigarette taxes $3,969,191
For the year ending June 30, 1934, the same taxes were $350,299,442 an increase of 8725%—a lot of money.

Cigarettes give a lot of pleasure to a lot of people.

More cigarettes are smoked today because more people know about them—they are better advertised.
But the main reason for the increase is that they are made better—made of better tobaccos; then again the tobaccos are blended—a blend of Domestic and Turkish tobaccos.
Chesterfield is made of mild, ripe tobaccos. Everything that science knows about is used in making it a milder and better-tasting cigarette.
We believe you will enjoy them.

The First Red Rose

Like the gold stillness of an afterglow. The past gleams radiant. . . . They were better days, with gentleness and grace of long ago, like childhood's gladness and its innocent ways. So grieve we for the haunting times of yore, When life seemed lovelier and the heart more warm, Thinking that Beauty's sun will shine no more, Since now we face the darkness and the storm. Yet all the joy that earth has ever known Is with us now to make existence sweet: The nightingale of Kents has never flown, And Shelley's lark still sings above the wheat; When Eve in Eden wore it in her hair— That first red rose—than ours 'twas not more fair!—Selected.

Wallace Beery at Saenger Thursday

With Jackie Cooper in "O'Shaughnessy's Boy" Here Through Friday

The circus is coming to town! Leading the big parade are Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper, together again in the picture of circus life, "O'Shaughnessy's Boy," which comes Thursday and Friday to the Saenger. For their brilliant performances in "The Champ" and "Treasure Island," Wally and Jackie have been rewarded with their greatest film. They score a new dramatic triumph under the Big Top—Wally as "Windy," famous animal trainer, and Jackie, as his son. As "Windy," happy-go-lucky, swaggering animal trainer, who faced a ferocious tiger and frantic elephant for the love of his son, "Stubby," Beery has one of the finest roles of his long and illustrious screen career. Jackie, as his son, will be the envy of every boy who has dreamed of traveling with the circus. The co-stars are surrounded by a splendid cast, which includes Spunky McFarland, as "Stubby" when a child; Leona Maricle, as Cora, "Windy's" wife; Sarah Haden, as Martha, her spiteful sister; Willard Robertson, as the circus boss; Henry Stephenson, as Valkenburg; Clarence Muse, as Jeff, the colored roustabout; and Ben Hendricks, as Franz, circus ringmaster.

Circuit Court, beg to report as follows: We have inquired into all law violations that have come into our knowledge and have returned indictments in all cases where the evidence was sufficient and in so doing, we have examined 54 witnesses and have returned into open court 16 true bills. We have through our Committee inspected the County Jail and we are pleased to report that we find the same in a good clean and sanitary condition. However, practically all of the windows are broken out and we would like to recommend that these broken windows be replaced immediately as it would be an economy move to replace these windows at this time and we should at least protect the prisoners confined in the jail from the cold weather this winter. We find the Court House and the different offices therein in as good condition as possible with the County Officials performing their respective duties in a courteous and business like manner. We want to commend the County Judge for his efforts to economize and to keep the County out of debt. However, we would like to recommend that the County Judge attempt to work out some plan whereby he will either work the County Prisoners on the County Roads or arrange with some other county in the state to work these prisoners as there is a great deal of dissatisfaction at the present time in regard to the handling of misdemeanor cases and the laying out of fines in the County Jail and we think that some plan should be worked out by the County Judge for the handling of misdemeanor cases where fines are imposed without allowing these prisoners to be turned loose on the public. We are in thorough sympathy with the untiring efforts of Sheriff Jim Bearden to enforce the law in Hempstead County and we want to commend him for his stand on rigid enforcement of the law in this county. We would like to recommend that the different officers of the county pay more attention to the laws with reference to reckless driving in as much as there are now more people killed with automobiles on the highways than with guns or otherwise. Driving without lights and such other law violations as would possibly lead to the killing or injury of the public on our highways should be rigidly enforced and cattle and other livestock should not be permitted to range on the public highways as this is a menace to public safety and we recommend that the law enforcement officers of the county use their very best efforts to enforce this law. We would like to express our pleasure for having served in your Honor's Court in our respective capacities and now having completed our labors, we most respectfully ask to be discharged. Test Your Brakes Regularly

Year by year the deadly traffic toll reaches new peaks. In the thick of the battle to reduce this loss of life are state Motor Vehicle Administrators. Twelve of them, officers and members of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, have contributed a series of articles describing the major causes of automobile accidents. Number Six in the series: "Test Your Brakes Regularly" follows:

By JOHN F. GRIFFIN
Commissioner of Motor Vehicles of New Hampshire, Regional Vice-President, American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators
BAD brakes mean that a motorist cannot stop when he must. The foolhardy motorist who does not keep his brakes at standard efficiency places himself and everybody else on the road in real peril. More than 20,000 vehicles involved in automobile accidents in this country last year were found to have defective brakes, according to statistics collected by a member company of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. Bad brakes are the principal all-year round defect in poorly conditioned cars. Probably no factor, except the steering mechanism is so important to automobile safety. No motorist has to be reminded of the countless times it is necessary to stop or reduce speed quickly. They may occur at any moment for almost any reason. They put a premium on the efficiency of your brakes. Your brakes can prevent an accident. They can likewise be the cause of one. Braking has been greatly improved in recent years. The introduction of four-wheel brakes has done much to increase the mechanical safety of motor vehicles. Two-wheel brake cars are comparatively few now, but there are still enough to create a road menace. Last year the rate of two-wheel brake cars involved in fatal accidents was 59 per cent greater than for four-wheel brake cars. The fundamental cause of accidents due to defective brakes is failure of proper maintenance. Brakes need to be adjusted regularly and finally replaced. Inspectors in cities and states having compulsory vehicle inspection found last year that two out of every seven cars examined needed brake adjustments or replacements. Motorists, your own experience tells you the significance of these figures. You want brakes that will stop your car when you want it to stop. Be sure your car is equipped with good brakes, and keep them in good condition.

Noe Heals Breach With Long Group

Meanwhile Dear and Sandlin Complete Opposition Slate in Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS.—(P)—The shattered ranks of the political administration left by the late Senator Huey P. Long were rallied Monday night by Lieut. Gov. James A. Noe's announcement of his withdrawal as a candidate for governor in the January primary. Noe had bolted the party, headed by Gov. O. K. Allen, and made his own announcement several days before the Allen caucus picked a slate of candidates and ignored him. Noe said he would run, with administration support, for re-election to his seat in the state senate from Ouachita and Jackson parishes. Only a few hours before Noe made his announcement, Representative Cleveland Dear, anti-Long candidate for governor, had almost completed a list of men to oppose the administration candidates. The Dear anti-Long ticket: Representative Cleveland Dear of Alexandria, for governor. Representative John N. Sandlin of Minden, for United States senator. State Senator Clement Moss of Lake Charles, for lieutenant governor. Francis Williams of New Orleans, former member of the Louisiana Public Service Commission, for secretary of state. Philo Coco of Marksville, attorney, for attorney general. E. H. Fisher of Shreveport, for superintendent of education. W. T. Mayor, former utilities commissioner of Shreveport, for state treasurer.

To Users Of The Facilities Of The Hope Water And Light Plant

Collections of each month's bills for water and electricity will be rigidly enforced by the 10th of the following month, and also some payment on any old balance outstanding, will be required or service will be discontinued. The above notice has been published under several dates, as ordered by the Water and Light Committee, under approval of the City Council, who by such action are endeavoring to look after the best interests of the citizens. I have been appointed by the City Council to attend to the affairs of the Light Plant and this I intend to do to the best of my ability. In August, after the 10th, I made a list of the delinquent accounts—I notified each delinquent before cutting off service to them—I did the same in September but this month, October, I don't intend to do this for the customer knows the rule—that their bill must be paid by the 10th at the Water and Light Plant office, in order to get further service from the Plant. My duties are many and I do not have the time to permit of my seeing each customer in person. Respectfully
Arch Moore
Superintendent.

the committee suggested: A ban by member nations on the opening of credits in favor of the country to be punished; a ban on the public issue of loans abroad; and short term credit operations. The "general staff," or Co-ordination Committee, to be created by the assembly, was not expected to report back with a definite plan of sanctions before next Monday. Even after its plan of campaign has been approved and the date set, the League staff will have to persuade the nations—there are 54 in the assembly—to carry out the scheme. It cannot command them. But once it is organized, the general staff will remain on duty for duration of the war.

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest.
It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver

A LITTLE BANTAM HEN WITH HER FEATHERS ALL RUFFLED
UP! IT'S SO SILLY FOR HER
TO BECOME SO PREJUDICED

WELL,
YOU
HER

EH? OH, COME,
NOW! SURELY,
YOU DONT FOR A MINUTE THINK
SHE'S JUSTIFIED
IN CONDEMNING
ALL MANKIND
SIMPLY BECAUSE A BACKWOODS
YOKEL

OH, I
DONT
YOU MEN ARE
ENTIRELY TOO SELF-
ASSERTIVE
TO GETTAH

DAT'S
RIGHT
US
VS
TO
TO GETTAH

—THERE ARE TIMES, CONFOUND IT,
WHEN BEING A GENTLEMAN HAS VERY DEFINITE DISADVANTAGES!

WHAZAT? Y'SAY DOOTSY
BOBO PULLED OL' KING
TUNK OUTA TH' PIT, AN'
THEY'RE RUNNIN' AROUND
MOO, RAISIN'
THUNDER?

YES, YOUR MAJESTY—
AND YOU'D BETTER
SEND A FEW MEN
BACK TO HELP
LIMPATEE CORRAL THEM!

WASH TUBBS Taking No Chances

THAT'S AN IDEA—WE'LL KEEP OUR
PIRATE TREASURE IN MR. BIGGER'S
TENT UNTIL THE YACHT RETURNS.

WELL, OF ALL THE
CRACK-BRAINED
IDEAS.

LISSEN, MOUSE, ARE YE
TRUSTIN' OUR GOLD W' THAT
DOUBLE-CROSSIN' THEVIN'
SWINDLER?

WHY—AH—HE COULDN'T LEAVE
THE ISLAND WITH IT.

BUT HE COULD BURY
IT, YU' MUG!

MY DEAR LULU
BELLE, EVIDENTLY
YOU—AH—DONT
TRUST ME.

YOU BETTER PINK PANTIES
I DONT! I GOTTER $4,200
DIVVY IN THAT TREASURE,
SLIPPERY BIGGER, AND I'LL KILL ANY LOPEARED CREEP
WOT TRIES TO DO ME OUTER
IT. SAVVY!

DONT WORRY, FROM
NOW ON, I'M GUARDIN' HIS TENT NIGHT AN'
DAY.

SO

TURN ABOUT.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS No Chance to Quit

MRS. FALLON,
I'M AFRAID
I'LL HAVE TO QUIT
MY JOB!

AREN'T YOU
SATISFIED
MONEY I'M PAYING YOU?

IT ISN'T THAT... YOU'RE PAYING ME MORE THAN
I EARN! BUT I'M AFRAID
PEOPLE ARE BEGINNING
TO WONDER WHERE I
SPEND MY SPARE TIME!!

BESIDES, I'M NOT DOING SO WELL ON
THE TEAM! EVEN THE COACH HAS NOTICED IT!!

DO YOU CONSIDER MAKING
TOUCHDOWNS OF MORE
IMPORTANCE THAN WHAT YOU'RE DOING FOR ME?

BUT YOU ASKED ME
NOT TO TELL ANYONE
WHAT MY JOB IS.....
AND I WOULD DISLIKE
TO TELL 'EM, EVEN IF YOU'D LET ME!

GOSH, I DONT KNOW WHAT TO DO! I'M PUZZLED! I FEEL LIKE A MAN WHO
STUCK HIS WOODEN LEG
IN A KNOTHOLE, AND WALKED AROUND HIMSELF
ALL NIGHT!!

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop) Windy Gets the Low Down

EMMY, YOU WERE A RIOT, COMING OUT OF JUDGE QUARTON'S OFFICE
AND LAYING THE LAW DOWN TO WINDY!

YOU ARENT
LAUGHING, BY ANY CHANCE,
ARE YOU?

OF COURSE I'M LAUGHING—SO IS
EVERYONE ELSE. WHO TOLD YOU BEFORE
YOU PAIRED OFF WITH THAT LAZY LUMMOX, THAT IT WOULDN'T WORK OUT—THE
ONLY THING THAT HAS WORKED OUT
IS YOU!

BUT, MY SWEET!

YES, I'M SICK OF IT!

—LISTENIN' EVERYBODY
TELLIN' ME HOW
LUCKY I WAS BEFORE
I MARRIED YOU!

YEAH, I KNOW THAT WAS WHEN I BEGAN GETTIN'
THE BREAKS!

OUT OUR WAY

DID YOU SEE THAT—HOW
SHE FELL FER ME? DID YOU
SEE THEM BEAUTIFUL BLUE EYES SPARKLE AT ME, AN'
THEM PARTY, RED, CUDDY—BOW
LIPS PART AN' SHOW THEM
PEARLY TEETH IN A SWEET
SMILE AT ME? DID YOU SEE
THAT ADORIN' LOOK IN THEM
STARRY EYES? SHE
SURE FELL FER
ME!

VEH, IT'S TOO BAD
THEY'RE GOIN' FIFTY,
CUZ IF THEY'D ONLY BEEN
GOIN' THIRTY, SHE MIGHTA
KISSED YOU, AN' IF
THEY'D BEEN GOIN' TWENTY,
YOU'D BEEN MARRIED—
AN' IF THEY'D STOPPED,
YOU'D BEEN DIVORCED!
